```
HTML
                                          // JavaScript Document
                                          function kiemtra(x)
<form name="FormDN">
                                          {
            <div style="margin-
                                                var user, pass;
top:20px; padding-top:20px;">User
                                                user = x.txt_user.value;
Name
                                                pass=x.txt_pass.value;
                                                if(user=="")
             <input type="text"
name="txt_user" />
                                                       alert("Ban chưa nhập USER NAME"); Passwword
             <input type="password"
                                                       x.txt_user.focus();
name="txt_pass" />
             <input type="button"
                                                       else if(pass=="")
value="Đăng Nhập" onclick="kiemtra(FormDN)"/>
                                                             alert("Ban chưa nhập Password"); </form>
                                                             x.txt_pass.focus();
                                                       else if(user=="12QTM" && pass=="123")
                                                             window.location="trangDK.html";
                                                else
```

alert("Bạn phải đăng ký thành viên");